DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY:

412 Paseo del Pueblo Norte is the location of El Pueblo Lodge. The structure reflected herein is the lodge's office, lobby, and associated public spaces. It is a partial two-story Spanish Pueblo Revival style former residential building with a flat parapet that has subtle undulations. Stucco is a yellow hue. Windows are a combination of modern 6-over-6 double hung, fixed plate glass, single lite aluminum sliders, hopper, and 6- and 8-lite wooden casement [historic] units. There are exposed viga ends projecting from the east elevation of upper level. A porte cochere with stucco piers, exposed lintel, and corbels extends from the southeast corner of the building. The north and west elevations reveal that the building is "L"-shaped; a full-width portal with posts, corbels, canales, via ends, and a knee wall extends along this elevation. Doors include multi-lite French single-leaf units; the main entrance is on the south elevation under the porte cochere and includes a single leaf paneled unit with fixed large lite sidelights. There are 3 interior chimneys. The large motor court site has mature landscaping and an acequia which runs
