DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY:

Building #4 at 413 Paseo del Pueblo Norte [Kachina Lodge] is the Cochiti Casitas. It is a two-story stuccoed lodge structure with a flat parapet and a central stepped projecting area that identifies the main entrance to the building. The building ends are anchored by massive buttresses. Windows are aluminum large lite plate glass units with undivided side light slider units. Windows have exposed lintels. A recessed two-story portal extends across the length of the west elevation. It has paired columns with elongated corbels, exposed lintels, and a jigsaw-cut wooden railing. Entry into the units is through single-leaf solid core wooden doors. At the central projecting mass, double-leaf doors provide entrance to a first floor "lobby." The building is located at the northeast/rear corner of the site facing an asphalt parking area on its west.
